[C. ELY] I got involved through an organization that receives monetary contributions from United Way; it's called the Children's TherAplay Foundation and my daughter was a patient there for 6 years.

I was asked by TherAplay to speak to the key club members about the IUPUI United Way campaign and I was more than happy to do it because contributions to United Way then are distributed out to these agencies that are in desperate need of funding to keep their doors open, so I was more than happy to become a spokesperson for this campaign.

TherAplay's relationship to United Way is really revolved around kids with disabilities and IUPUI's role in the United Way campaign is huge in creating opportunities for volunteerism, advocacy, and financial contributions.
